

Interactive comment on “Variations in mid-latitude North Atlantic surface water properties during the mid-Brunhes: Does Marine Isotope Stage 11 stand out?” by A. H. L. Voelker et al.

P. Tzedakis (Editor)

p.c.tzedakis@leeds.ac.uk

Received and published: 6 October 2009

I thank the authors for making an effort to highlight the general significance of their results more clearly. While the work has sufficient potential, I think that the MS still requires focusing and attention to specific points and is therefore not yet at the final stage of publication. I recommend that the MS will benefit from a further in-depth review.

Interactive comment on Clim. Past Discuss., 5, 1553, 2009.